Welcome to ANUHub!

ISIS is now ANUHub - your new self-service portal. Things might look a little different, but you'll find the same menu options via the NavBar (compass icon in the top right corner).

ANUHub now enables the pages to scale responsively based on the browser window or the viewing space within the device's screen (desktop, tablets, smartphones, or foldables). This allows for easier navigation across devices.

When the application is logged into, a new display is now available. A description of each of the features has been provided to easily operate within the application.

Navigation Banner

The navigation banner is responsive and resizes itself to allow using all the features present on it. Most of these features were already available in the previous instance. They have now been enhanced to enable more functionalities.
