Three Minute Thesis (3MT)

The Three Minute Thesis competition is the ultimate test of a researcher's communication skills. The challenge: Communicate the gist of your research in three short minutes, armed only with a single PowerPoint slide. This competition is now active in over 900 universities across more than 85 countries worldwide and participation in it has become a bit of an international research communications passport.

Come along to the workshops and learn some of the tips, tricks and techniques that could see you cross the finishing line first.

The tryouts are then the perfect way to hone your presentation. Receive feedback on your ideas, your presentations or your 3MT slide in these 'open mic' sessions. Relaxed, casual and open to all, these sessions allow you to receive professional feedback and the comments of your peers in a supportive and positive environment.
