2. ANU - Authority to Collect, Use and Disclose Personal Information
3. ANU - Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ's)
4. Medical Certificate of Capacity
5. ANU - Claim for Time Off Work Form
6. ANU - Medical Services Claim Form

This form is to be completed if you wish to claim workers' compensation under the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act), an Act relating to the rehabilitation of employees and to workers' compensation for those employees.

Sections of this form are to be completed by you and your employer. If you have difficulty completing this form, please seek assistance from your employer.

How to claim

- If you have not already told your employer that you have been injured or contracted an illness at work, notify them as soon as possible.
- Either complete this form together with your employer or, once you have answered your questions in the Employee section, then give this form and any attachments to your employer. Your employer will then complete their section and send it to the Claims Management Team.
- If you are no longer employed, you must complete and give the form and attachments to the employer you were working for when you were injured or became ill. If that employer no longer exists or has changed its name, please complete the Employee section of this form and send it to ANU.
- If your answers do not fit in the space provided, please attach additional pages with the necessary details.

Attachments you must supply

Your claim cannot be assessed unless you attach:

- A Medical certificate for compensation with diagnosis and causation (including what has caused your condition), completed by your doctor or medical specialist, describing your condition and symptoms. This form can be downloaded from the Workers' Compensation at ANU webpage.
- If you are claiming for a psychological injury you must attach a statement outlining the events that contributed to your injury in support of your claim.
- If you are only claiming for chiropractic, physiotherapy, dentistry or osteopathic treatment and not for time off work, you only need to provide a certificate from your treating chiropractor, physiotherapist, dentist or osteopath.
- A separate Journey form must also be completed if your injury happened while travelling for work purposes. This form can be downloaded at Workers' Compensation at ANU.

If you need more information

Contact the Claims Management Team via email: workerscomp@anu.edu.au

Responsibilities

Your responsibilities

- Actively engage with your employer and/or your Rehabilitation Case Manager to facilitate your return to work and health.
- Actively participate in your rehabilitation programme.
- You can also talk to your employer and/or your Rehabilitation Case Manager about your employer's rehabilitation policy and procedures.
- Provide the University with timely, accurate and complete information about your claim.
- Cooperate and communicate regularly with your employer, Rehabilitation Case Manager and rehabilitation provider about your claim.
- Advise the University as soon as possible about any changes in your circumstances.

Employer's responsibilities

Assist with your rehabilitation and encourage early and safe return to work.

Help you find suitable work or a gradual return to work where a return to normal duties is not possible.

Talk with your treating doctor to understand what jobs/tasks you can safely do at work.

Assess whether a rehabilitation programme is needed, and appoint a rehabilitation provider if required.

Claims management team responsibilities

- Work with you, your employer and treating doctors to get you back to health and work.
- Let you know when your claim has been received and notify you of any decisions and entitlements.
- Deliver appropriate and timely management of your claim, including payment for your treatments and time off work where appropriate.
- Provide rehabilitation and return to work support to both employees and employers.

ANU will let you know when your claim has been received and will notify you of any decisions.

What you should expect to happen next

Privacy statement

ANU is authorised by the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act) to collect, use and disclose your personal information. If ANU is unable to collect, use and disclose your personal information for the purposes of assessing your claim or related functions, we may not be able to determine your claim. ANU collects an employee's personal information that is reasonably required in order to manage the compensation claim, any associated rehabilitation or the University's regulatory requirements under the SRC Act and the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 (WHS Act). ANU may also need, in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988, to collect your personal information from, and disclose your personal information to, a number of parties, including the following:

- your employer (including any relevant managers) when you were injured, your current employer and any subsequent employer
- your superannuation fund manager or trustee
- any health professional, hospitals, other health institutions, or service providers related to your claim
- your Rehabilitation Case Manager
- your rehabilitation provider
- vocational and functional assessor
- employment agencies
- legal advisors
- law enforcement authorities
- personnel engaged by ANU to conduct research related activities the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission
- Department of Veterans' Affairs
- ANU fraud investigators
- inspectors appointed under section 156 of the WHS Act
- any relevant third party (or insurer) considered by ANU to have contributed to or have information relevant to the claimed injury, illness or impairment
- any other person assisting ANU in the performance of its functions or exercise of its powers, including contractors and consultants
- any other entity where there is legal obligation to do so (for example, but not limited to, responding to the direction of a court to produce documentation).

It is unlikely the University will provide personal information to anyone in an external territory or outside Australia, unless the information relates to an incident, investigation, injury or illness sustained while overseas, or treatment provided by an overseas practitioner. If disclosure of personal information is made to someone overseas, ANU will follow the Australian Privacy Principles that relate to disclosure to overseas entities.

Accuracy of personal information. ANU wants to ensure personal information is up to date and complete. Our Privacy Policy explains how to access personal information held about you and how to go about making any corrections.

Complaints. If you think the University has interfered with or breached your privacy (relevant to the Privacy Act 1988), our Privacy Policy contains information about what you should do and how we will respond.

For a copy of our Privacy Policy or to make a privacy complaint please refer to anu.edu.au/privacy or contact us on 02 6125 5111.

Employee's authority and declaration

1. I have read and agree to all the information within this form including the privacy statement.
2. The information that I am providing in this form and in any attachments are an accurate representation of facts and events. I understand that making a false or misleading claim, or statement in support of this claim, is punishable by law and I may be prosecuted and can result in the University recovering any money they give me.
3. I authorise and consent to the collection, use and disclosure of my relevant personal and medical information by ANU and any relevant parties, including those listed above, for purposes connected with the assessment and management of my compensation claim, and by the University carry out its regulatory functions.
4. I understand if I withdraw my consent then this may result in my claim being suspended or cancelled.
5. I know I must immediately inform the University if I become employed in any way during the period I am absent from work due to my injury/disease.
6. I know I must immediately inform the University if I am aware of any overpayments that I may have received and these may be recovered by ANU.
7. I know I must inform the University if my injury or disease improves enough to allow me to return to work.

Authority to collect, use and disclose personal information

Workers' compensation claim at ANU

Privacy Notice

ANU needs to collect, use and disclose your personal information about your condition, claim, treatment, rehabilitation, and related matters, so we can facilitate activities in relation to the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Act 1988 (SRC Act). If you do not authorise us to handle your personal information for this purpose we may not be able to effectively facilitate your rehabilitation or return to work, or manage your claim.

We will only collect, use or disclose your personal information in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988. You can access your personal information, ask us to correct inaccuracies in it, or make a complaint to us if you think we have breached our obligations under the Privacy Act 1988. Our Privacy Policy contains more information about how to contact us to view or correct your personal information, and how to make a complaint, and is available at the ANU policies website: <https://policies.anu.edu.au/ppl/index.htm>.

ANU is not likely to disclose the personal information collected under this authority to a recipient outside Australia unless the information relates to an injury or illness sustained, or treatment provided, while you were overseas. If disclosure of personal information is made to an overseas recipient, ANU will comply with obligations in the Privacy Act applicable to the disclosure of personal information to overseas entities.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ's)

What are my rights under the Safety Rehabilitation and Compensation (SRC) Act?

An employee has the right to:

- their entitlements under the SRC Act
- confidentiality
- access to documents that relate to their claim
- ask for certain decisions to be reconsidered

What entitlements might I receive?

Under the SRC Act reasonable medical treatment will be paid based on an employee's individual situation. Medical treatment includes services that are provided by, or under the supervision of, a legally qualified medical practitioner, and may include treatment by health professionals such as physiotherapists, osteopaths, dentists, as well as prescribed medications.

When an employee has time off work as a result of their injury, they may be entitled to incapacity payments. Medical evidence linking their absence from work with their compensable condition must be provided.

What about my privacy?

The information provided by an employee to allow their claim to be managed is subject to the 'privacy principles' under the Privacy Act.

- Read more about privacy

How can I access information about my claim?

If an employee would like to view their claim file, ANU will arrange to give them a copy of documents held in relation to the claim. Employees simply need to submit their request in writing. This is to make sure the employee's documents are not provided to someone else. There is no charge for the information provided.

What are my responsibilities?

An employee's responsibilities include:

- Promptly reporting to their employer the details of any accident, injury or disease that might be related to their work.
- Co-operating with their employer, case manager, claims manager and rehabilitation provider to achieve a full return to work (if this is medically appropriate).

Employees may also be required to attend a medical examination if arranged by the Claims Management Team at ANU. You must also notify ANU of any third party action taken, as well as any change to your personal circumstances.

What changes in circumstances should I report?

Employees receiving compensation benefits should advise any change to their:

- name
- address
- number or circumstances of their dependents
- employment (including employment outside the ANU, whether voluntary or otherwise)
- earnings
- medical condition
- bank account details (if their incapacity benefit is being paid directly into their bank account)

What about Third party action?

If an employee, their dependents, or another person, starts legal action against a third party or against a Commonwealth or ACT Government employer in relation to their work-related injury or illness, ANU must be notified, in writing, within seven days, that those proceedings have been started.

Providing misleading or false information

If at any stage the employee becomes aware that they made a misleading statement (for example on a claim form) they can amend this by writing to their Claims Manager. Uncorrected false or misleading statements may lead to delays in a decision on the claim. In certain cases, it may also lead to action being taken under the Crimes Act 1914. From time to time, investigations may be taken into the legitimacy of a claim if it appears amongst other things, that the information provided may be false or misleading. This helps ensure only legitimate compensation claims are accepted.

Claim for time off work form

This form is used to claim compensation for time off work by an employee who is incapacitated for work, either partly or wholly, and continues to be employed by the Australian National University (ANU). A claim for incapacity payments must be made by the employee and submitted to ANU by the employee's current employer. Email completed form to injurymanagement@anu.edu.au

Medical Services Claim Form

(Please use this form to claim the cost of medical treatment and travel expenses. Only Part B of this form needs to be returned to ANU).

ANU pays for reasonable medical, hospital, pharmaceutical and other treatment costs that are related to your work-related injury or illness. However, for many services ANU may use fee schedules set by professional associations, such as the Australian Medical Association or other allied health organisations to reimburse the costs for a number of medical services. As a result, there may be a difference between the amount your provider has charged and what ANU is able to reimburse you for those services.

PRIVACY STATEMENT

Your privacy is important to us. We will only collect, use or disclose your personal information in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988. If ANU does not collect personal information from you for the purposes of assessing your claim or related functions, we may not be able to determine your claim.

For those purposes, ANU may need to collect from, use and disclose your personal information to the following parties:

- your employer at the date of your injury, your current employer and any subsequent employer
- your superannuation fund manager or trustee
- any health professional, hospitals, other health institutions, or service providers related to your claim
- your Claims Services Officer (CSO)
- your rehabilitation provider
- vocational and functional assessor
- employment agencies
- legal advisors and law enforcement authorities
- the Safety, Rehabilitation and Compensation Commission
- inspectors appointed under section 156 of the Work Health and Safety Act 2011
- any relevant third party (or insurer) considered by ANU to have contributed to the injury, illness or impairment
- any other person assisting ANU in the performance of its functions or exercise of its powers
- any other entity where there is legal obligation to do so (for example, but not limited to, responding to the direction of a court to produce documentation.
- legal advisors and law enforcement authorities

Please refer to www.anu.edu.au/privacy or contact us on 02 6125 5111 and request a copy of our Privacy Policy.

COSTS FOR REIMBURSEMENT

Please make sure you have:

- signed the Employee's declaration on page 4
- attached the invoices or receipts for medical or travel costs to your claim form
- attached the statement of benefits from Medicare or your private health fund if you have claimed a reimbursement for your medical expenses through these health insurers
- kept a copy of the invoices or receipts for your records.

If you have paid the account, reimbursement will be made to you. If you have not paid the account, ANU will make the payment to your service provider.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR PAYMENT OF TRAVEL EXPENSES

- ANU will pay compensation for reasonably incurred travel costs, for the purposes of obtaining medical treatment, where
 - each journey (including the return part of the journey) by private vehicle exceeds 50km, or
 - you need the use of public transport (including buses, trains, planes and taxis) or an ambulance because of your accepted condition.
- When considering the reasonableness of your travel, ANU will have regard to the distance of available equivalent medical treatment from a service provider located closer to your place of residence or workplace.
- Travel is payable at a maximum rate for each whole kilometre travelled, having regard to the shortest practicable route you travel. The rate per km includes the cost of petrol, tolls and wear and tear on the car. The rate per km is set by the Minister and not ANU. Please contact ANU for the current rates.
- You must provide ANU with a medical certificate if you want to claim for the use of public transport or an ambulance. Your doctor must recommend the need for the use of this type of transport and give their reasons supporting their recommendation on the medical certificate.
- ANU will reimburse reasonable parking costs associated with obtaining medical treatment and may also reimburse you for reasonable accommodation and meal costs associated with overnight or long distance travel for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment where the journey exceeds 50km. Private expenses, such as the use of mini bars, internet connection, telephone calls or personal items, such as, magazines, books, clothing or toiletries are not included in these costs.
- In order for ANU to reimburse you for the costs associated with your travel i.e. accommodation and meals, you will need to obtain tax invoices/receipts from the service providers involved for these costs. Please note ANU is unable to reimburse costs from Eftpos receipts as they do not meet processing requirements. The journey must exceed 50km for accommodation and meals to be payable.
- Reimbursement of your expenses will not be made until attendance at your appointment has been confirmed. ANU may require a certificate of attendance from the doctor/clinic when you attend. Please attach this to your application.

NOTE: If your bank account details change, please complete and submit the request to change bank account and or personal details form available online.
